

Program Team Intern, Austin, TX

Marathon Kids, a national nonprofit headquartered in Austin, is looking for an intern to join the Program Team, the organization's team focused on programmatic efficacy, engagement, and reporting. The Program Team intern will work closely with the Program Director and Program Administrators, as well as Marathon Kids constituents across the country.

Specific responsibilities include:

- Providing support to the team to evaluate, qualify, and communicate with Marathon Kids grant applicants.
- Leading volunteers and staff members in completing Coach engagement projects.
- Content creation of marketing and programmatic resources.
- Drafting email and social media content designed to engage and inspire constituents.
- Research and strategic planning, such as gathering data on sedentary lifestyles, physical activity, and educational reforms for new program development.
- Data management, to be used for reporting for funders and partners and program efficacy.
- Other projects as determined by present needs and the qualifications and interests of the candidate.

The qualified candidate:

- Is pursuing or possesses a degree in health and physical education, kinesiology, non-profit management, public health, health communication or a related field.
- Is a passionate believer in the power of sport and physical activity to transform communities and lives.
- Familiar or experienced in the nonprofit or school sector a plus

Skills:

- Exceptional communication skills (oral and written)
- Very flexible and a self-starter
- Meticulous attention to detail

All interns and practicum students at Marathon Kids become integral members of their team, intimately involved in the conversations and decisions that affect their areas of work.

To apply:

Submit your resume and cover letter to laura@marathonkids.org. Applications accepted on a rolling basis.

About Marathon Kids:

Marathon Kids is a national nonprofit organization that is dedicated to improving the health of children by providing them with the tools, motivation and support to live happier, healthier lifestyles.

For years, Marathon Kids has demonstrated an iterative and unfailing commitment to its own healthy evolution, drawing directly on the growing field of implementation science to translate knowledge into action. Today's running club program incorporates the best practices from a variety of past pilot initiatives and extensive evaluations, including a significant amount of deep, place-based work in community organizing and community diffusion. Marathon Kids aims to empower adults and children together to create and sustain cultures of health.